Main Roster

TEAM QUIXAL

Milky
IGL

The IGL or the in-game leader is the person who is in charge of the team and the one who calls the shots on pretty much every decision. These would typically include the economy, rotations, pushing, and anything else that may pop up during the match.

shaiK
Playmaker

The playmaker is the player who is usually the first one who rushes onto a position. Named for their propensity to die, a skilled entry fragger will not only be the first to kill an opposing player, but will also manage to not be killed in the process.

Jorko
AWPer

The AWPPer will usually focus on holding long angles and securing the key points of the map. Players who play this role are usually extremely skilled with the AWP. The in-game leader keeps the entire team on the same page and organizes the flow of gameplay.

Kyi0o
Lurker / Anchor

This role mostly revolves around stealth, his mission will always be to try and surprise the enemy team by picking off isolated or otherwise vulnerable enemies. More often than not, the lurker will head towards the bomb site that is opposite the one designated and does his best to take out enemy players.

Bonce
Support

Support players push with the entry fragger and provide cover by using utility. The support player will trade kills if the entry fragger dies and will cover other lines of site. They also provide support by using utility to aid the push or to assist the entry fragger.
